Almighty God, our heavenly Father,
your mercies are new to us every morning, and you abundantly provide for all our wants of body and soul, though we have not deserved your goodness.
Give us your Holy Spirit, that we may heartily acknowledge your merciful goodness toward us, give thanks for all your benefits, and serve you in willing obedience; through Jesus Christ, your Son, our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and forever. Amen.
(Evangelical Lutheran Liturgy, 1894)

Our mission:

Bring people to Christ.

Teach Christians to be disciples.

Send disciples to reach the world.

Thematic Collect

Heavenly Father, our lives are filled with the abundance of your grace and mercy. We thank you for the good things of your creation that fill our lives. May our gratitude be so abundant that it flows into radical generosity that reflects your boundless love for all; through Jesus Christ, our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God now and forever. Amen.

Thoughts on the Readings

The Common Thread

Take time to give to the Lord; and take time to do it first. Waiting until later, when you are sure you have enough for yourself and God too, requires calculation but no faith. Do not be anxious, but bring your thankful offering to God and see that he will be faithful—as he has been in all generations. God will demonstrate his faithfulness so that trusting in his fatherly goodness, you may have peace. Believe in the one who sent heavenly manna into the wilderness, and the Bread of Life to starving sinners. Those who believe will neither hunger nor thirst but instead, feast on Christ, that heavenly food that continues into eternal life.

First Reading - Deuteronomy 26:1–11

Imagine that you have spent a generation, eating the manna and fowl that the Lord has provided in the wilderness. Now you are about to enter the land promised to be flowing with milk and honey. You have also heard reports of grapes, pomegranates, and figs that are so large that the fruit has to be carried by two men. What will you want to do after decades of of fowl and manna, but eat some fruit from the promised land? But first, God says, each of you give me a basket of that fruit. Does God actually eat grapes (Psa 50:13) or does he want his people to learn to trust him in the midst of such abundance? God has given his word to provide. He has shown his faithfulness in the wilderness. You may trust him.

Psalm - Psalm 100:1–5

There is something special about entire nations setting aside a day for thanksgiving. But to whom are they thankful? Sadly, some folks are just plain grateful—not to someone but for something. They are thankful that they have enough to feed, clothe, and shelter their families. But real thanksgiving is so much more. It is not general appreciation for one's pleasant or sufficient lot in life; it is thanks to God no matter one's circumstances. Give thanks to him and bless his name!

Second Reading - Philippians 4:4–9

The Lord is in the vicinity (Phil 4:5). That is a cause for rejoicing, surely; but it is also a supremely comforting thought, something that should remove all anxiety for those who fear, love, and trust the Lord. It seems like I have always read him being "near" as meaning his return is imminent. That too. But it is reassuring to remember he is near enough to hear us and answer our prayers—and give us his peace. Thinking about such things and practicing a lifestyle commensurate to his nearness promise the continued abiding of the God of peace.

Gospel - John 6:25–35

Whoever looks to God by coming to Christ will never hunger. God has supplied in his Son the true bread of heaven. We must gather each day that heavenly food that eternally endures. In other words, we are to keep believing on the one whom God has sent, his only Son. God gives us the faith to do so. We may trust him completely to continue drawing us to himself, the source of real life.

Pigeon Food Pantry Collection – Lets help stock the shelves of the Pigeon Food Pantry. Cross Lutheran Church will be collecting items from now until November 16th to help our local people. All groceries are greatly appreciated; however, a few popular items are cereal and cans of Spaghetti-O's, chili and beef stew. Also needed are detergent, toilet paper and personal hygiene products. If you wish to give a monetary donation, a check can be made out to the Pigeon Food Pantry and placed in the Mission Outreach mailbox. Grocery items can be placed in the totes located in the church entrance. We are not able to accept outdated food or dented cans. Your kindness will be greatly appreciated!

Happy fall from piano class! People often wonder how a piano class with multiple students can possibly work with just one teacher. During our piano class time, students have the opportunity to practice on their own keyboard with headphones throughout their 45-minute piano class, two times each week. When students think they have mastered the page that they are on in their piano books, they will bring their book up to me at the real piano and play the page for me on the piano. This is a great opportunity for students to get their hands on a real piano and feel the difference between the real piano keys and the keyboard keys; there is absolutely a difference! If students are able to play the page correctly for me at the real piano, they will turn the page, and we will talk about how they will complete the following page in their piano books. Once they know what is expected on the next page, students will go back to their keyboards and practice that next page. This format works perfectly so that I can see each student at least once throughout a class period and make sure students continuing to learn new lessons in their piano books.

This year in piano class we have seven new fifth grade students who are just beginning to learn how to play piano. These fifth-grade students are learning things like the names of the keys on the piano, how sharps and flats work on the piano, how to read both treble cleft and bass cleft on the grand staff, and many more crucial lessons that are important when first learning how to play piano. So far, these fifth graders have made excellent progress this school year and are very excited to hopefully share their new skills off in the springtime with a chapel performance. We also have six sixth grade students and eight seventh and eighth grade students who are continuing on in their piano lessons from previous years. These students are expanding their knowledge of piano and learning other things such as how scales work with different fingerings on the piano, how to use the pedal on the real piano, how to play legato versus staccato, and many more great lessons.

If you want to come and hear the progress these piano students are making, feel free to come to some of the sixth-grade chapel performances in November. Sixth grade students will be choosing a song from their piano books to perform in chapel on a Wednesday in November. Also, the seventh and eighth graders will be performing a Christmas song at the Christmas Palooza on December 18th.

Thank you for supporting our students as they learn piano!

Child Update

OCC is a year-round project for many of us! M/O members have recently put together 50 sewing kits for the boxes. Many supporters scour the sale racks all year long looking for reduced deals on items for the shoeboxes. This morning I got a call from a friend who excitedly proclaimed, "I found 25 pairs of children's shorts for $1 each!" Another told me they are making packs of assorted band aids for the boxes. Someone bought 48 boxes of crayons at the back to school sales. Someone else bought socks! I myself keep a big tote in my closet and every time I find something like reduced stuffed Easter bunnies or bracelets and sunglasses from parades, in the tote they go! We pray that many of you are looking for items to add to our collection! - Cross Mission Outreach
